ANNUAL PERFORMANCE OF GLEE CLUB TO BE "H. M. S. PINAFORE"

Mary Minott to Play Josephine and Margnia Foot, Little Buttercup

"H. M. S. Pinafore" will be given as the annual performance of the Glee Club, on Friday and Saturday nights, May 5 and 6, in the gymnasium. The comic opera was given in Bryn Mawr in 1915, when the part of Little Buttercup was taken by K. W. McCollin. Tickets are now on sale in M. Morrison's room, Pembroke East.

The part of Josephine, the heroine of the play, will be taken by M. Minott, '24, while M. Foot, '21, who two years ago played Ruth, the pirate nurse in the "Pirates of Penzance," will take the part of Little Buttercup. M. P. Kirkland, '21; L. Grim, '22, and C. Garrison, '21, will also sing important parts. The trousers to be worn by the sailors were salvaged after six months spent at the bottom of the sea during the war.

The production is being coached by Mr. Edward S. Grant. P. Smith, '22, is chairman of the scenery committee; H. Humphries, '23, of the costume committee; J. Burges, '22, of the properties; M. Morrison, of program and tickets. The lighting is under the direction of I. Haupt, '17, and L. Sloan, '20, graduate students.

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION MEETS AT BRYN MAWR FOR DISCUSSION

Commission Made of Working Girls and Students From Four Colleges

The third meeting of the Industrial Commission of college and working girls took place in Bryn Mawr last Saturday at three-thirty o'clock, in the Christian Association library.

There are eight members in each delegation. The working girls are chosen from plants in Philadelphia, and the college students are from Temple, Swarthmore and Bryn Mawr and the University of Pennsylvania. The present delegates from Bryn Mawr are S. McDaniel, '23, and M. Fairies, '24. In the meeting on Saturday the Commission discussed "What the working girl can contribute to the college student and vice versa." They decided that the working girl can impress the reality of industrial conditions at first hand, a sense of responsibility for an education, and the college student's duty as a consumer and citizen to improve working conditions and to mold public opinion. The college student could, they thought, show the value of an education, give knowledge of the theory of industry and emphasize the duty of bringing up industrial standards.

After the discussion, the delegations had tea in the Radnor sitting room. This is the first meeting of the Commission at Bryn Mawr. The next meeting will be in three weeks, at Swarthmore College.

DR. McDOWELL, ARBITRATOR OF STRIKES, TO SPEAK HERE

A preacher with broad experience in industrial relations, Dr. John McDowell, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, will lead the chapel service on Sunday evening, May 8.

Dr. McDowell was for some years a worker in the mines, and once risked his life by returning, in the face of a threatened explosion, to warn other miners of the danger. His insight into industrial relations, based on first-hand experience, has made him popular as an arbitrator of strikes. In 1917 and 1918 Dr. McDowell was director of the Religious Work for War Industries under the Y. M. C. A. He led the Week-End Conference here in 1917, and spoke at Vespers in 1919.

Ushers and Marshals have been chosen for Commencement. They are: Diploma Marshals—F. Matteson and F. Martin; Senior Marshals—D. Meserve and A. Fraser; Marshals—H. Rice (head), S. Archbald, V. Corse, A. Clement, M. Dunn, R. McAneuy, E. Matthews, L. Mills, E. Rhoads, E. Scott and A. Smith; Ushers—J. Ward (head), M. Adams, H. Beaudrias, M. Bradley, L. Bunch, E. Gray, A. Hay, M. Holt, H. Pratt, H. Price, E. Philbrick, J. Richards, H. Scribner and K. Strauss.

Marshals for Baccalaureate have been chosen from 1922. They are: Senior Marshals—E. Anderson and F. Bliss; Marshals—N. Speer (head), B. Clarke, J. Burges, M. Crosby, K. Gardner, E. Hobdy, S. Hand, M. D. Hay, N. Jay, A. Nicoll, P. Norcross, P. Smith and L. Wyckoff.

EUROPEAN FELLOWSHIPS AWARDED TO MISS DUNN AND MISS GABEL

Nomination for Travelling Fellowships for 1920-1921 was Esther Cloudman Dunn, of South Portland, Maine, instructor in English Composition this year. Miss Dunn will use this Fellowship to study at the University of London for her degree as Doctor of Letters. The Travelling Fellowship for 1921-1922 went to Leona Christine Gabel, of Syracuse, New York. Additions have been made by the same donor to the European Fellowships of Marian C. Kleps, A. B., 1916, and Eva A. Bryne, A. B., 1916, and A. M., 1917, to enable them to make use of these fellowships.

PENNSYLVANIA DEFEATS BRYN MAWR IN FENCING MATCH

First Intercollegiate Fencing Match Among Women's Colleges

Winning 6 bouts out of a total of 9, the women's team of the University of Pennsylvania defeated Bryn Mawr in a fencing match held in the gymnasium Saturday afternoon. This is the first inter-collegiate fencing match in the history of women's colleges in the United States. Both teams were coached by Mr. Terrone, of the University of Pennsylvania, for an equal amount of time.

The Bryn Mawr team played almost entirely on the offensive, pressing their opponents with series of strong, quick attacks. The openings afforded by the continual attacks made by Bryn Mawr were taken advantage of by the Pennsylvania team, which played a defensive, but steady, game. B. Warburg, '21, was quick, her sudden attacks being disconcerting, while her retreats carried her beyond the reach of the opposing foil. The feature of the match was the bout between Miss Warburg and Miss Masland, the former having remarkable time, and the latter keeping her line perfectly. A Nicoll, '22, showed much skill in her well-planned and swift attacks, relying on these rather than on her parries, which were at times slow. More cautious fencing was done by H. I. Murray, '21, who, however, was surpassed in wrist work by her opponent.

A. Nicoll, '22, and H. I. Murray, '21, were substitutes for H. Hill, '21, and M. Speer, '22, while the judges were:

Dr. Robert Hanse, assistant Professor of Biology at the University of Pennsylvania, and sabre champion of Pennsylvania, was referee.

Judges were: Miss Applebee, Miss Dowd, Mr. C. Rhoads and Mr. S. Brown, of the University of Pennsylvania.

MAY DAY OBSERVED GAILY IN RAIN

Hypothetical Sun Greeted by Hymn

No observing dampening of the May Day spirit resulted from the chilling drizzle that fell upon the Seniors singing to greet the sun from Rockefeller Tower last Friday morning, and upon May-pole dancing, revelling, and Senior hoop rolling afterwards.

The winding of 1921's May-pole on Denbigh Green was one of the events, all classes gathering around the dancers to sing, and to catch sight of E. Taylor, president of the Senior Class, who crowned as Queen of the May, stood with President Thomas under the May-pole.

President Thomas, after a short speech to the Seniors, to which the Senior president replied, presented Miss Taylor with the "lucky cats" of China on a necklace.

Off Stage

Pinafore will be the third play Bryn Mawr has given within the last month, and it promises to live up to the high standard the others have set. The actors in each have sacrificed a great deal of time and have worked hard and patiently to learn their parts; they have given much pleasure and deserve much praise. But with actors alone the final performance would be no different from some of the later rehearsals. The creative effect of the scenery, the beauty of the costumes and the glamor of the lighting would be gone and the lines, alone, would find hard work in "getting across." The people who are responsible for these necessary parts to success work long and skillfully. And though they cannot come forward to bow to applause, they have earned a very great deal of it.

Democracy Flourishes

Bryn Mawr is the college that boasts no sororities and no secret societies. In other words, Bryn Mawr clubs are all democratic. This year a new organization revived this spirit in a way they claimed to be idealistic. The annual election of members to the club held last week resulted in the election of one Freshman member, the only candidate not blackballed. What could be more democratic than this flourishing club?

"The head to plan, the heart to feel, the hand to execute"

Looking back over the past year the News board can count more than one step that has made for progress. Left for the first time without the invaluable help of the Faculty member to whom the board has always looked for inspiration the year has been a crucial one. That we have weathered the crisis successfully is due to the vigorous personality and enthusiasm of the managing editor. With the influence of her interest behind it, the College News is starting out on its seventh year.

Errors Corrected

Miss Ernestine Friedmann, secretary of the Summer School and vice-chairman of the Directing Committee, whose name was erroneously spelled in the last issue of the News, has her office in the department of Social Economy in the east wing of the library.

Katherine Shumway, '23, was omitted from the list of the Silver Bay Delegation, printed in the last issue of the News.

The record for baseball throw was not established, but broken by R. Neel, '22, in the preliminary track meet on April 25. A. B. M. is awarded to the breaker of a record, but not to the person establishing it.

NEW CUT REGULATIONS APPROVED BY THE FACULTY AND COUNCIL

Henceforth, student monitors will count half a cut for any student entering a class between ten and a quarter past the hour. A whole cut is registered after a quarter past. A student who leaves five minutes before the hour must also register half a cut.

Sub-monitors will be appointed in all classes. They will have class lists and be responsible for the attendance should the monitor be absent.

In large classes, where the attendance is kept by the office, student monitors will be appointed to check late-comers and those who leave early.

SMITH SOPHOMORES TAKE LEAD AGAINST EXTREME DRESS

In Plays Students Satirize Styles

Playlets satirizing the prevailing extreme styles in dress, and a fashion show at which afternoon and evening dresses were entered by Undergraduates are features in the campaign for dress reform now being carried on at Smith College. Under the impetus given by Dr. Joel E. Goldthwaite, of Boston, in lectures to the Sophomore Class, a few Sophomores, co-operating with Dean Ada Comstock, opened the drive against "vamp" and "flapper" styles.

Modesty, becomingness, color and line were taken as a basis for judging the dresses entered in the Fashion Show. To the most satisfactory gown a prize of $25 was awarded by Dr. Goldthwaite. There were more than a hundred entries.

"A Million a la Mode," "Three Inches from the Floor," and "Alice through the Boudoir Glass," three of the skits written by the Undergraduates, won first, second and third prizes for the success with which they emphasized the point of propriety in dress. "The goal toward which the dress reform points," declares the New York Sun for April 28, "is a mode chic enough for any critical eye." Of the jersey uniforms now popular at Bryn Mawr, the Sun correspondent says: "It has taken Smith by storm. It appears at any hour of the day or night on the campus on various shades and various colors, skirts knife-pleated, accordion-pleated and plain. In one house more than half the girls are proud possessors of these jersey cloth sport dresses, and dress competition among the daughters of Eve is dead for a while at least."

RUSSIAN CATHEDRAL QUARTET TO PERFORM AT GARDEN PARTY

Quartet to Replace Bolm Ballet

The Russian Cathedral Quartet will give a performance in the cloisters from 8 to 9.30 P. M., on June 2, the evening of the garden party, instead of the Bolm Ballet as was planned.

This is the same quartet that performed at 1919's garden party. The program will be different from that given in 1919, though the singers will be the same—N. G. Waschenaky, N. S. Vaschey, N. A. Antonaff and M. P. Bataeff. The singers will be accompanied by a Balalaika orchestra, which is composed of seven players with Balalaikas, old Russian stringed instruments.

Athletic Association to Elect President and Board Thursday

Meeting in the Taylor Hall tomorrow at 1.30 the Athletic Association will hold its annual elections. The president and two board members will be elected from the Junior class, three members from the Sophomore class, and a secretary from the Freshman class.

MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE STARTS WORK ON FRESHMAN HANDBOOK

Student Advisors Sign Tomorrow

Under the new name of Student Advisors, students already in college will be allotted Freshmen to whom they will write during the summer, and whom they will help to plan their courses, and to get adjusted generally during their first college year. A list will be posted on the Christian Association bulletin board in Taylor Hall tomorrow for students who wish to be Student Advisors to sign.

Work on the Freshman Handbook, which will be sent to each member of the incoming class, has already begun. A. Fraser, '23, is business manager; S. Aldrich, '22; A. Howell, '23, and F. Begg, '24, compose a sub-committee. The new handbook will be based on the one published last year.

The Editors do not hold themselves responsible for opinions expressed in this column.

MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE OFFERS PLAN

To the Editor of THE COLLEGE NEWS:

There was a great deal of feeling last year, and perhaps there has been more this year, that C. A. girls were not fulfilling their purpose. After looking their Freshmen up in the fall, taking them to the C. A. reception and chapel and sending them flowers for Freshman Show, the majority of C. A. girls have considered their responsibility at an end, with the result that they have been of practically no help to the Freshman.

This year the Membership Committee has decided to call the people who write to Freshmen Student Advisors instead of the old, rather meaningless name of C. A. Girls. With this new more dignified name, perhaps the Student Advisors will follow up their letters by helping the Freshmen all through the year in the many ways which are possible. If, for instance, they help the Freshmen to work ahead and plan their courses for the entire four years, they will be justifying their existence to a greater extent than they have in the past.

Perhaps, also, the Freshmen will look upon their Advisors as sources of help rather than as the social obligations which C. A. Girls seem to have been.

In making the Student Advisors really accomplish their aim, the committee hopes that it may have the co-operation of the Christian Association and of the whole college.

THE MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE

History Club to Reorganize

To THE COLLEGE NEWS:

The History Club has felt for some time that the present limitations on its membership excludes many people whose interest would be a great asset to the club and, therefore, it has decided to open the membership to all who want to join. The club plans to affiliate with the Intercollegiate Liberal League, an organization governed by students, which has just been formed to encourage intelligent discussion and to provide speakers on economic and political questions. This will not do away with the former activities of the club, nor does it mean that there will be formal debates with required preparation. It will be the policy of the club to welcome all those who are sincerely interested, and who will be responsible for attending meetings and paying such dues as are necessary. Members will be admitted only at the beginning of each semester, and all meetings, except large lectures, will be closed. As we wish to have the new members take part in the elections for next year, will all those who would like to join please give their names to W. Worcester, Denbigh, before May 10th?

THE OFFICERS OF THE HISTORY CLUB

Frances Bliss, '22, was elected managing editor of the News for next year. Miss Bliss has been on the News since her Sophomore year.

The business manager will be Cornelia Baird, '22.

ALUMNAE NOTES

Anna Sanford, '20, will teach English at Dongen Hall, Staten Island, New York, next year; and Helen Kingsbury, '20, at Roland Park County School, Baltimore.

Anna E. Lubar, '18, will teach Oral English at Scarsdale High School.

FELLOWSHIP OFFERED TO BRYN MAWR GRADUATE BY I. C. S. A.

The regular fellowship offered by the Intercollegiate Community Service Association and by some Bryn Mawr alumnae, is again offered for the year 1921-1922, to a graduate of Bryn Mawr College who wishes to prepare herself for any phase of social work.

The value of the fellowship is $650, $200 of which is given by the college to meet the tuition fee. The holder of the fellowship is expected to live in the College Settlement in Philadelphia, and to give her entire time to the work of the Department of Social Economy. Her practice work is carried on under the direction of the head worker of the settlement. The charge for board and lodging in the settlement will not exceed $7 a week, so the stipend is enough to cover the total living expenses of the student.

Applications for this fellowship should be sent to the president of Bryn Mawr College or to Dector Jane Newell, Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass., who is chairman of the Scholarship Committee of the I. C. S. A.

Former holders of this fellowship are:

Dorothy Weston, '14, I. C. S. A. Fellow, '15, who is now head resident of the Neighborhood House, New York City.

Mrs. Benjamin Franklin, Jr. (Adrienne Kenyon), '15, I. C. S. A. Fellow, '16, who is assistant manager of the Bureau of Occupations for Trained Women, Philadelphia.

Helen M. Harris, '17, I. C. S. A. Fellow, '17, who is financial secretary of the Philadelphia College Settlement.

Amelia K. McMaster, '17, I. C. S. A. Fellow, '18, who received the Gamma Phi Beta European Fellowship awarded by the Association of Collegiate Alumnae in 1919, and studied in the London School of Economics.

Eleanor Dulles, '17, I. C. S. A. Fellow, '19, who is employment manager with the firm of S. Gembly, Long Island City.

Owing to a printers' strike many articles have been omitted from the News, many errors left uncorrected, and no large headlines set. It is only due to the special efforts of the Winston Company that an issue has appeared at all.

The business world today offers increasing opportunities to educated women, but the educated woman too often finds that she is at a disadvantage because she knows so little of that business lore that young men seem to have absorbed during their up-growing. Now, however, if she is a "college graduate of high academic standing" she may overcome this handicap by taking an intensive training course that will not only give her the tool of secretarial training, but also an extremely interesting insight into the organization and management of business, its psychology, ethics, and language. There will be practice work in offices, and an imposing array of lecturers will give talks and assigned work. The advertisement (which appears in this issue, page 4) does not give the interesting details that are promised in the circular.

Miss Eugenia Wallace, who spoke on secretarial work at the recent conference, is now associated with this school.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Spanish Club has elected M. Taylor, '22, as president; C. Baird, '22, as secretary and treasurer, and M. Tjader, '24, as secretary.

Florence Knox, '23, has been elected secretary of the Undergraduate Association, and M. Russell, '24, assistant treasurer.

Eleanor Harris, '21, will teach French next year at the Holman School, Philadelphia.

Freshman banquet was held in Pembroke dining room on Friday night. K. Connor was toast mistress, and speeches were made by A. Shiras, class president, and B. Constant. Various stunts were given during the course of the banquet.

Isabel Coleman, '22, sailed for Europe on the Aquitania on May 3. Miss Coleman will return for an extra semester in order to take her A. B. degree.

Italian Club president is M. Voorhees, '22, vice-president, H. Rice, '23, and secretary and treasurer, A. Howell, '23.

Constance La Boiteaux, ex-'22, has returned from Europe. She will be married in June.

Winifred Worcester, '21; E. Kales, '21; H. Stone, '21, and K. Cowen, '21, sail June 30 on the Pocahontas to tour Italy under the auspices of the Italy-America Society. They will leave the party when it reaches Paris on August 12. While in Italy, Miss Worcester will lay a bronze memorial wreath on Dante's tomb as a tribute from the institutions of learning of the United States. R. Reinhardt, '19, may go as chaperone.

The annual meeting of the I. C. S. A. is to be held on Saturday and Sunday, May 7th and 8th, at Mt. Ivy, New York. E. Bliss, '21, and E. Rhoads, '23, chairman of Social Service Committee, will represent Bryn Mawr.

It has been decided at the time of the college athletic awards, on Tuesday morning, May 31, small brown felt shields with either a water polo ball, a basketball, a tennis racket, or a hockey stick on it, will be awarded to any alumnae who has played three years on any one team, or who has played on three teams in one year.

Membership to the History Club has been made open to the College, it was decided at a meeting of the Club last Wednesday. Membership will close May 10.

A home-made puppet show, conducted by Frederick Prokosch, son of Dr. Prokosch, lecturer in German and Anglo-Saxon, will be given under the auspices of the English Club in Room Denbigh, next Wednesday evening, at 7.30. Admission will be 25c.; refreshments, 10c.

Helen MacDonald, '21, will come back next year as assistant to the secretary and registrar of the College in place of Miss Kleps, '16, who will use her European Fellowship.

Nance O'Neil, who plays the main part in Benavente's "The Passion Flower," now running at the Walnut Street Theatre, in Philadelphia, will have tea with members of the Spanish Club tomorrow afternoon, in Radnor Hall.

The Directors of the College have raised all the resident fellowships from $525 to $810, so that a fellowship meets all expenses and gives $100 over for emergencies. Graduate scholarships also have been raised from $200 to $350, so that graduate scholars are now able to pay the same proportion of their expenses as last year.

There is a Faculty Committee now considering the running of the book-shop by the faculty on a co-operative plan. If the plan is adopted students who expected to run the shop will be given scholarships.

The first fellowships for women were given at Bryn Mawr College when it opened in 1885. It was the second college to give fellowships at all, only Hopkins preceding Bryn Mawr by giving fellowships in 1875 to men. When Bryn Mawr opened in 1885 fellowships for women were established.

Two free competitive scholarships, the Ruutz-Rees' Scholarship and the Lowndes' Scholarship, will be open at Rosemary Hall, Greenwich, Connecticut, for the coming year, 1921-22. They cover the cost of board and tuition, and, subject to a high standard of work and conduct, may be kept to graduation. The scholarship examinations are held early in June.

Further information may be obtained at the school.

BRYN MAWR ARTISTS' AUCTION WORKS FOR STUDENTS' BUILDING

Pastels on subjects varying from "Dutch Ships" to "Love's Litany" and "The Reason Why" are now on exhibition in room 56-60 Pembroke West, admission, ten cents. On Tuesday the paintings were sold at auction, and the entire proceeds will go to the Students' Building Fund. Contributions have been made by nearly a score of artists, among whom the works of H. Stevens, '22; E. Anderson, '22; E. Donnelly, '21, and A. Rupert, '22, have attracted particular attention.

PATENTED
The All-Elastic Corset

—is the Ideal Corset for College Girls

THE TREO GIRDLE is made entirely of porous woven surgical elastic web, which "gives" freely to every movement of the body, yet firmly holds the figure. Lends grace with absolute comfort. Our patented method of construction and character of materials used make it equally desirable for street, dancing, evening or sport wear; white or flesh tint. Price $2.00 to $15.00.

CAUTION—The TREO GIRDLE has feature strip of elastic above elastic waist-line band, and, therefore, supports the body above and below waist-line. If not at your dealer's, write for Free Booklet.

You Have Written Poems!

Do you care to have them revised or constructively criticized by successful authors? If you do, then send us your manuscript (stories, articles or poems). We will criticize, and place them should they prove to be acceptable for publication.

There is no actual charge for our services. If, however, you have not previously enrolled with the advisory department of this association, we request that you enclose the initial fee of two dollars, which we must ask of each new contributor. There is no additional expense, no future obligation.

It must be realized that we can only be of aid to those of serious intent. If you do mean to strive for literary success, we can help you in many ways. Our services are yours until we have actually succeeded in marketing at least one of your manuscripts. Send something today!

Please enclose return postage with your communications.

BRYN MAWR WILL HAVE BRANCH OF LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Women of Faculty and Staff Organize

A Bryn Mawr College Branch of the League of Women Voters was formed at a meeting held at the Deanery last Thursday night. The purpose of this organization of women is not only to use the votes of the women of the college to the best advantage, but also "to foster education in citizenship and to support improved legislation."

Mrs. Hermann Schwartz, the president of the Montgomery County League; Dean Smith and Miss Martha Thomas, treasurer of the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters, spoke. President Thomas presided. A permanent Executive Committee was elected as follows: Dean Smith, chairman; Miss M. Thomas, warden, of Pembroke; Dr. F. Bascom, Professor of Geology; Mrs. W. R. Smith, Professor of Economics, and Mrs. D. H. Tennent, members; Miss Franklin, Instructor in Economics and Politics, secretary, and Miss Brown, Warden of Merion, treasurer. President Thomas was elected honorary president.

DECREASE OF FARM POPULATION
EXPLAINED BY DR. SPILLMAN

Farm labor and production are far-reaching problems today, according to Dr. Spillman, associate editor of Farm Journal, who spoke in Taylor Hall last Wednesday evening under the auspices of the World Citizenship Association.

Quoting figures to show the decrease in farm population in the last forty years, Dr. Spillman explained the changes brought about by the introduction of labor-saving tools which require few men to operate. However, hand labor, which is almost impossible to get, is still required for harvesting, said Dr. Spillman. A movement has been instituted throughout the country to meet this demand by training high school boys to work in the summer. Another factor that discourages farmers is the middlemen's excess profits, which make the farmer operate practically at a loss. Farm Bureaus to protect the farmers have already been organized, but if the high cost of living is to be brought down, the co-operation of the consumers is necessary.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT NOTICE

A new set of Infirmary regulations have replaced the previous ones.

No students are permitted to visit students ill in the Infirmary without receiving a written notice from Dr. Sands.

Talking through the windows to patients in the Infirmary is absolutely forbidden.

All notes to students in the Infirmary must be sent in the Campus mail, and must not be left at the door of the Infirmary.

Ice cream, flowers, fruit, etc., must be delivered from the stores. Packages from the halls must be left in charge of the warden, who will see that they are delivered.

A fine of $2 for each infringement of these rules will be imposed on the student in the Infirmary as well as the student outside.

Office Notes

A required intelligence test for Seniors will be given in Room F, Taylor Hall, at 9 A. M. next Saturday. Seniors unable to attend are requested to make a later appointment.

Senior and Freshman Hygiene lectures, scheduled for Thursday, May 5, have been postponed to Tuesday, May 10.

Sophomores must register their courses for next year with the Dean on or before May 6. Registration for Freshmen will begin May 9.

What Makes the Firefly Glow?

YOU can hold a firefly in your hand; you can boil water with an electric lamp. Nature long ago evolved the "cold light." The firefly, according to Ives and Coblenz, radiates ninety-six percent light and only four percent heat. Man's best lamp radiates more than ninety percent heat.

An English physicist once said that if we knew the firefly's secret, a boy turning a crank could light up a whole street. Great as is the advance in lighting that has been made through research within the last twenty years, man wastes far too much energy in obtaining light.

This problem of the "cold light" cannot be solved merely by trying to improve existing power-generating machinery and existing lamps. We should still be burning candles if chemists and physicists had confined their researches to the improvement of materials and methods for making candles.

For these reasons, the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are not limited in the scope of their investigations. Research consists in framing questions of the right kind and in finding the answers, no matter where they may lead.

What makes the firefly glow? How does a firefly's light differ in color from that of an electric arc, and why? The answers to such questions may or may not be of practical value, but of this we may be sure—it is by dovetailing the results of "theoretical" investigations along many widely separated lines that we arrive at most of our modern "practical" discoveries.

What will be the light of the future? Will it be like that of the firefly or like that of the dial on a luminous watch? Will it be produced in a lamp at present undreamed of, or will it come from something resembling our present incandescent lamp? The answers to these questions will depend much more upon the results of research in pure science than upon strictly commercial research.

"LADY FROM PHILADELPHIA" PERFORMED BY MAIDS SATURDAY EVENING

A one-act comedy, "The Lady from Philadelphia," coached by M. P. Kirkland, '21, was given by the Bryn Mawr maids, in the gymnasium Saturday night, under the auspices of the maids' committee.

The principal parts were taken by Archela Nicolls, of Rockefeller, and Marianne Galway, of Pembroke. The stage was turned into a dining-room by the use of furniture and screens. The entertainment was opened by two songs—"Love Bird," by Zurlene Wolff, of Radnor, and "Old Pal," by Christine Jones, of Radnor, followed by a recitation, "Crossing the Bar," by Marguerite Turner, of Pembroke.

Refreshments were sold in the balcony during the dance which followed the entertainment. A competition for the best dancer resulted in the prize being awarded to Zurlene Wolff, of Radnor.

DR. CECIL DISCUSSES "THINGS THAT ARE WORTH WHILE"

"You have reached the time in your lives when you are thinking of the things worth while," Dr. Russell Cecil, father of E. Cecil, '21, declared, speaking in Chapel last Sunday evening. "The world, too, is in need of people who have the courage to choose the things worth while, and who know how to do them."

Those who consider the church not worth belonging to, Dr. Cecil compared to those who believed in the cause of a war, and were willing to fight, but refused to undergo the necessary training. If you are unwilling to consider the church worth while you separate yourself from the most valuable and the greatest people in the world.

"Being is more important than doing," Dr. Cecil explained, showing that cultivation of character as well as a useful life were among the things worth while.

SCHOLARSHIP SHOULD BE ENCOURAGED BY PRIZES

President Thomas Urges Need of Admitting Women to Competition

Speaking in Chapel after the announcements of awards Friday morning, President Thomas said in part:

"Universities in all countries and enlightened governments have always recognized that prizes, praise, recognition and honors are very important in persuading young people to enter on this straight and narrow path which is, I assure you, one of the most wonderfully rewarding paths in the whole world.

"We often look back with longing to the achievements of that little Athenian republic that during two or three centuries created such glorious poetry and prose, drama, philosophy, architecture, sculpture and all sorts of things that we have not been able to equal since. It seems to have stimulated Greek genius by a wonderful system of prizes of no value a. all in themselves—a wreath of laurel or wild parsley—but of such glory to the man who won it that his children and grandchildren and remotest descendants were all honored because of him.

"I often think that if we Americans should begin now to honor scholars, not only students, but professors and investigators, and place them in popular estimation above multi-millionaires and successful men of business, we should thereby create many great scholars.

"But to blaze the way you must see that all positions of honor and influence are open for competition to women. In almost all businesses there are competent women in subordinate positions with no chance of getting any further. It must be your work to set free the intellect, the public spirit, the genius for scholarship, the aptitude for research that have been lying dormant and undeveloped in women during centuries.

"And I want to say before closing that we are very, very proud of this year's seniors who have done so well and of our whole student body. In coming back to you after an absence of fifteen months, I really had forgotten what a wonderful thing a Bryn Mawr student is. You are different, and really and truly so much nicer even than I thought you were."

VASSAR STUDENTS SPEND $700 YEARLY BESIDE COLLEGE FEES

Clothes Claim Large Per Cent. of Allowance—Travel and Food Next

Seven hundred dollars is the average yearly expenditure of the average Vassar student, in addition to the college fees of board and tuition. Facts as to the average income and expenditure were established by expense accounts kept by about one-third of the students at Vassar for three months this year; the investigation was under the supervision of the Department of Economics.

Seniors spend most of all the four classes; Juniors spend next most, and Freshmen least of all. "The gradual increase," says the New York Sun for March 13, "is supposedly due to the fact that added responsibility is put on the individual girl as she proceeds through college. Freshmen's parents probably buy a large proportion of their clothes for them, whereas the Seniors usually purchase their own."

Individual expenditures over the three months' period varied from $31 to $1335, the average being $100. More than half of the total amount went to clothing, in which again individual expenditures vary from $1.00 to $1084.50.

Of other expenses 14 per cent. of the total sum was spent for traveling, 14 per cent. for food and recreation, 8 per cent. for incidentals and 3 per cent. for church and charity. Only a small number of the students receive a regular allowance, it was found. Allowances were usually given at the beginning of the year or term, rather than monthly.

In 1914-15 similar statistics were taken at Smith College.
